

Supplementary Specification

Non-functional requirements

Usability

- The user interface should be aesthetically designed.
- The functions and information should be consistent.
- Any user action in the software should be responded.
- Documentations for user are required.
- The artifact should be available for different browsers, devices.

Reliability

- The artifact should be available, with low failure frequency, low failure extent and low failure time-length.
- The actions and responses should be predictable and accurate.

Performance

- The performance should be speedy and efficient.
- Resource consumption (power, RAM, cache, etc.) should be restricted to a affordable extent for most users.
- The artifact should be scalable.

Supportability

- Support from our support services should be available.
- The artifact should be serviceable, maintainable, sustainable.
- Any issue/vulnerability should be fixed timely. Users' any possible loss owing to the software bugs should be minimized and compensated by support services or insurance providers if necessary.
- Multiple language support is temporarily not necessary for this project.

Other specifications

Film Genres

A genre movie is a film that follows some or all of the conventions of a particular genre, whether or not it was intentional when the movie was produced.

Action film

- Spy film
- Action thriller
- Superhero film

Adventure film

- Swashbuckler film
- Western film

Comedy film

- Comedy of manners

- Slapstick

- Black comedy

- Comedy horror

- Romantic comedy film

- Teen movie

Drama film

- Crime drama

- Historical drama

- Docudrama

- Legal drama

- Psychodrama

- Comedy-drama

- Melodrama

- Tragedy

Hybrid film

- Docufiction

ref: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Film\_genre